NORTHERN CITY REELS UNDER SNOW

City Parking Lot Opens Thursday

The new municipal parking lot will open on Thursday on East Main street. The big 70 car parking lot is located between Main and Maple on South Second street.

Murray will boast a first in Western Kentucky with the opening of this parking lot which is spacious and ample.

The lot is in the former location of the Beale home and was graded, gravelled and paved. Four lines of cars are contained in the parking lot with concrete being poured to hold the meters and to give cars a line to park against.

Parking on Thursday will be free, and beginning on Friday the lot will be open for regular use with the meters being used.

A token gift will be presented to all users of the parking lot on Thursday. A gift package is being made up to place in each automobile using the lot.

The parking meters will give two hours for five cents and four hours for a dime on this lot.

The Main Street Cafe is offering free coffee and cookies to users of the lot on Thursday only.

Within the last twelve months five privately owned parking lots have opened in Murray to alleviate the street parking situation.

L. D. Miller, executive secretary of the Murray Chamber of Commerce said that it is felt that every car than can be removed from the street to off street parking areas, provides more parking space for store customers, traveling people, and tourists.

A special invitation has been extended to citizens to use the parking lot which is one and one-half blocks from the court square.

The lot was first proposed by a group of merchants in the East Main street area who pledged cash to the city to help defray initial construction costs.

The city has a five year lease on the property with two five year options at the same rental price of $200 per month.

Threat Made By Soviet East Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — An East German Communist newspaper said today East Germany would seal off escape routes to the West for refugees once West Berlin becomes a "free city."

Ten thousand persons a month flee Communist rule and seek refuge in West Berlin, but the official Communist youth organ "Junge Welt" said those escape routes would end.

The Communist plan announced by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev calls for the Soviet occupation forces to turn over West Berlin's lifelines to the East German Communists.

The Junge Welt said once the East Germans get control of those air, water and land routes "West Berlin could no longer be a transit station for those who have let themselves be enticed away from our republic."

It added that control of the allied routes will be transferred to the Communist regime whether the Western powers agree to it or not.

West Berliners fear that despite their own determination the Western powers might yet abandon them.

Lord Mayor Willy Brandt planned to visit Paris this week and the United States next month to make sure the West does not grow weak.

Brandt, armed with a resounding mandate from West Berlin voters, will go to Bonn Friday for talks with West German leaders and then to Paris where he will make himself available to a NATO foreign ministers meeting.

He will go to the United States in January to make speeches and hold discussions in New York and Washington. He also may visit other American cities to plead West Berlin's case.

Sources said the trips reflected West Berlin concern that Western powers may be growing tired of holding this former enemy capital against the Soviet and Communist East German armies that surround it.

West Berliners returned Brandt to office Sunday with a vastly increased majority for his Socialist Party in an election that was clearly a personal victory for the lord mayor. He has become the symbol of the city's determination to remain free.

Toy Business On The Boom

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The toy business, dragging its heels through the long summer while the nation recovered from a recession, has taken on the aspects of a boom.

Manufacturers who met a wave of caution for their retail outlets cut production when early Christmas orders fell far below expectations by late summer.

The trend now has been reversed and retail jobbers have splashed in orders that have emptied wholesale warehouses and caused speedups in assembly lines to meet an increased demand for toys that began only a few weeks ago.

Pensick and Gordon, of Los Angeles, largest manufacturers representative west of Manhattan, regard the early trend as a "general falldown."

"Retail outlets played it too safe, they ordered too low," according to Al Gordon, who with Sam Pensick has been dispensing toys in the West since 1925.

Gordon said the late ordering meant retail dealers possibly would have toy shortages as parents swept through their stores in last-minute shopping sprees.

He defends the dealers and explains their caution was based on the recession in business in general. However, he also feels they did not make allowances for the fact that the toy business always makes a spurt in December when nearly 75 per cent of the toys are sold for the year.

"There never has been a bad year in our business," Gordon adds. "People buy for their kids whether times are tough or not. In hard times toy prices are down and they still buy everything they possibly can."

Weather Report

Southwest Kentucky — Considerable cloudiness continued today and tonight. High today in mid-20s, low tonight 10 to 15. Thursday partly cloudy and warmer, high in upper 20s.

Temperatures at 5 a.m. e.d.t.: Bowling Green 17, Paducah 15, Louisville 10, Lexington 8, Covington 2, and London 14.

Evansville, Ind. 10.

Huntington, W. Va., 9.

Reminder

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Christmas reminder from the Post Office Department:

A four-cent stamp is required for unsealed Christmas cards mailed overseas and to Canada and Mexico.

Last year unsealed Christmas cards to Canada carried a two-cent stamp. The new rates on international printed matter became effective Aug. 1.

Unsealed cards sent to destinations where the United States mails with a three-cent stamp.

NAZI TRIALS SPEEDED

STUTTGART, Germany (UPI) — West Germany is taking steps to speed up the prosecution of Nazi criminals. The Baden-Wuerttemberg State Ministry of Justice announced that a central agency for preparing and prosecuting prosecution of former Nazis is being set up at Ludwigsburg near here.

Split In Soviet Leadership Seen

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — American authorities said today there is some evidence to suggest a split among top Soviet leaders over Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's tough Berlin policy and his handling of some other foreign policy matters.

They reported credible signs in recent weeks that some members of the Soviet Politburo are challenging the wisdom of Khrushchev's action in forcing the Berlin crisis, including his ultimatum to the Western Allies to get out of the city within six months.

There also is evidence, these sources said, that the two Russian delegations engaged in disarmament negotiations with the West at Geneva are not getting clear-cut directions from Moscow at this time.

Serov Show-Down Victim
A power struggle in the Kremlin could explain the sudden reversal of Gen. Ivan A. Serov as chairman of Russia's state security committee, the top police job in the country, authorities said.

Serov may well have been a casualty as Khrushchev and his opponents jockeyed for position in preparation for a policy showdown, they added. They pointed out that in power contests among the leadership in an authoritarian country the chief of the secret police frequently falls by the way.

Cold Expected To Continue Here

United Press International
Kentucky Weather Synopsis from U.S. Weather Bureau in Louisville:

The high pressure in the Northern Plains will for the next two days continue to funnel cold Arctic air from the snowy Northlands into the Midwest and temperatures will remain quite cold throughout Kentucky today and Thursday, and the cloudiness expected in some areas of the state will move out tonight, giving way to mostly fair weather Thursday.

As winter tightens the grip of its icy talons around the throat of fall, in preparation for his debut on Dec. 22, the next five days will remain cold over Kentucky, with no real warming expected, although some slight moderation may be expected intermittently during the period.

Then take heart, brave soul, if winter comes, can spring be far behind?

Notice Merchants

Bonus $20.00 bills have been reported in Mayfield and Paducah. The bills can be identified by the duplication of serial numbers, a stiffer quality of paper, and the lack of shading on the right side of Andrew Jackson's face. Darker ink is also used on the seal and serial number.

Banks are required by law to confiscate the bills and the person who presents them to the bank are the losers.

Laurel Courthouse Destroyed By Fire

LONDON (UPI) — Fire all but destroyed the 73-year-old Laurel County Courthouse Tuesday night before firemen could bring the blaze under control after a 3 1/2 hour battle.

The second and third floors of the three-story brick building were burned out and the roof caved in during the blaze, which was discovered about 8 p. m. by a fireman on duty at the nearby station.

County officials said they found records and documents virtually intact, protected by a fireproofed storage area on the ground floor. Records up to 1956 had been microfilmed and stored in a local bank vault.

About 25 volunteer firemen using two pumps fought the fire, hampered by cold weather which froze water from the hoses.

Fire Chief Gilmore Phelps said he could not determine the cause of the blaze, although it had been suggested that faulty wiring or bad fuse might have been responsible. County officials said the building was insured for $125,000, but they felt it would cost considerably more than that to replace it.

Omitted

The tenth grade was omitted in the new story of the students who were named on the Almo High School honor roll.

The students from Almo who made the honor roll are Larry Hurt, Anna Lee Eldridge, Faye Hutchens, Patricia Lovett, Bobby Jean Geunert, Rita Chapman, and June Bogard.

Stricken Owsego, New York, Is Buried Under 5 Feet Of Snow

United Press International
OWSEGO, N.Y. (UPI) — A blinding storm dumped another 12 inches of snow today on this unheated city, already reeling under a five-foot blanket of white.

But the U.S. Weather Bureau in Syracuse said an end to the seemingly unceasing snow was finally in sight.

The forecasters said the paralyzed city was in store for about six more inches today and "then it should be all over with."

From midnight to 9 a.m. e.s.t., a foot of snow fell and it continued to come down steadily. It was displaced quickly in drifts by gusty winds. Visibility was near zero.

Just under five feet of snow had fallen during the three-day storm, the Syracuse Weather Bureau said. The best estimate, the bureau said, was 58 inches since Sunday.

It was the worst storm ever to hit the city.

Today's storm further hampered the efforts of weary snow crews, striving to restore normal life to Owsego, whose 25,000 residents have been virtually cut off from the outside world since Sunday.

Schools, factories and most businesses remained closed for the third straight day as the city, on the southeastern bend of Lake Ontario, continued to reel under the blinding snow. Arctic winds and frigid cold.

Police and Red Cross snow teams, using skis and snowshoes, delivered food to snowbound residents, many of whom have been trapped in their homes.

A state of emergency, proclaimed Monday by Mayor Vincent Corsali, remained in effect and unauthorized pedestrians were ordered to remain off city streets.

Owsego, already under a state of emergency, was hit by a new storm Tuesday night as it fought to free itself of a record 65 inch snow accumulation and drifts 20 feet high.

More than 40 snow plows were thrown into the battle against the towering snow mounds in and around Owsego. House roofs threatened to crumple under the weight of the snow.

Heavy snow squalls also swirled over the ice shores of Lake Erie where Erie, Pa., was buried under 25 inches of snow and faced the prospect of another 6 to 12 inches today.

State police said roads in northwestern Pennsylvania and southwest New York were "terrible" with visibility cut by the heavy snow. All main roads were open, but about 80 per cent of the secondary roads in the area were shut.

Sub-Zero Readings Common
The most prolonged cold wave of the season, extended from the continental divide to the Atlantic.

Sub-Zero readings were common during the night from Montana across the northern plains, the Great Lakes, the central Appalachians and into New England. And the official onset of winter still was 12 days away.

Below freezing weather drove as far south as Georgia and central Texas.

The snow and cold was blamed for at least 21 deaths. Icy highways claimed nine lives in traffic in Illinois, three in Indiana, two in New Jersey and one each in Iowa and New York state.

Two transients froze to death in Chicago, two men suffered fatal heart attacks shoveling snow in Iowa and a Michigan man met the same fate.

Among the latest victims were two persons killed when a bus and truck collided on an icy highway Tuesday night near Somerville, N. J. Twenty persons were injured in the crash.

A Gurnee, Ill., man was killed Tuesday night in a traffic accident while trying to help a neighbor start his stalled car.

Fire Kills Many
Cold weather fires also took a heavy toll of lives. At Champlain, N.Y., three little girls, including twins, were killed Tuesday night when flames swept their small frame home.

An overheated wood stove was blamed for a fire which killed

Two Boys At Lawrenceburg, Ind. Killed In Fire

Lawrenceburg, Ind. (UPI) — Two boys at Lawrenceburg, Ind., were killed Tuesday night when a fire swept through a home after chopping wood outside. Milton Moreland, 87, was killed when a fire swept his house trailer at Elma in central Ohio.

At Albion, Pa., a furnace explosion forced 11 persons to flee a wrecked home into wintry weather.

In the Northwest, searchers combed back roads and forested areas near Portland, Ore., for a family of five missing since Sunday when they went out to look for Christmas trees. Missing were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Martin and their three daughters.

Ice Covers Mississippi

The intense cold brought a four-inch thick ice cover to the Mississippi River from Clarksville to Hannibal, Mo., and ice formed on the river as far south as St. Louis, which reported its coldest Dec. 9 in 41 years. Barge traffic continued on the Mississippi despite the ice.

However, three ships were trapped in ice in Lake Erie and seven cargo vessels were ice-bound below Saint Ste. Marie, Mich. in the lower Saint Mary's River. The Coast Guard cutter Mosquito was en route to try and clear a path for the ships to Lake Huron.

Another 35 ships were stalled at the Lachine and Sorel locks in the St. Lawrence River, east of Montreal. An ice-breaking tug was sent to Soulanges.

Other heavy snow amounts included 30 inches at Fulton and 36 inches at Booneville, N. Y.; 48 inches at Houghton, 30 inches at Bellevue, and 40 inches at Hancock, Mich., and up to four inches as far south as northern West Virginia and Western Maryland.

The coldest weather of the season closed in on the New York metropolitan area where readings dipped into the teens.

A slight warming trend brought a little relief to the Dakotas, eastern Montana, Iowa and Minnesota. Although it was 10 to 2 degrees "warmer" in this area, most temperatures still were below zero.

MUST WE GO TO CHURCH TO BE CHRISTIANS?

You've probably heard people comment at times on the fact that their Catholic neighbors go to church so often. Perhaps you have wondered . . . is all this necessary?

Catholics, you may be sure, have good reasons.

Going to Mass on Sunday is, of course, an obligation for every Catholic. Confession and Holy Communion at least once a year are a sacred duty. But most Catholics go to Confession and receive Holy Communion oftener.

There are also many other special services and devotions for which Catholics go to church. In the average city, the Catholic Church is always open—and seldom empty. Many will enter the church at any hour of the day to visit Jesus Christ present on the altar, mindful of His invitation: "Come to Me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest."

Catholics believe that Christ not only called upon us to honor and serve God . . . but prescribed the ways in which we should do so. He did not say how often we must go to church . . . nor how many prayers we were to recite. But He did establish a Church with the power and authority to carry on His work . . . and He promised that His Church would last to the end of time—that it would have God's protection in teaching all men to observe all things He had commanded; especially to believe and to be baptized and thereby become members of His Church to attain the purpose of their lives.

And how do Catholics know their is Christ's Church?

Because it possesses the distinguishing marks Christ gave His Church. It covers the earth as Christ said it would. Unchanged after nearly 2,000 years, it continues to live and grow.
 But the most convincing mark that He gave it is its unity of faith, worship and obedience under the authority of the lawful and historical successor of Peter, the first Bishop of Rome and the "rock" upon which Christ built His Church. Just as Peter was the first Pope and the first Vicar of Christ, so also is Pius XII the 262nd Pope and the Vicar of Christ today.

If you would like to know more about the distinguishing characteristics which Christ declared His Church must have and which the Catholic Church possesses today, write for Pamphlet KY-2. It will come in a plain wrapper—and nobody will call on you.

Whatever Happened To

ROY CULLENBINE
 United Press International
 Roy Cullenbine, an outfielder-first baseman, made seven big-league stopovers in his 10 year career played mostly in the American League. He hit 335 for the Tigers in 1946 for his career high mark but it was in '45, when he helped drive the Tigers to an American League pennant, that his bat proved most valuable. Roy broke in with the D-agers, St. Louis Browns, Washington, the Yankees and Cleveland before winding it up with the Tigers from 1945-47.
 Whatever happened to Roy Cullenbine. Now 44, Roy has a potato chip business in Detroit and is a public links golfer of considerable note.

Maysville Stays On Top Of High School Basketball Heap

United Press International
 LOUISVILLE (UPI) — Underdog Maysville High remained on top of the Kentucky high school basketball heap in this week's ratings by the UPI Board of coaches but the pedestal was being jarred by an onrushing pack of challengers headed by duPont manual of Louisville.

Maysville picked up two first-place votes from last week's early-season peek, and an additional 36 points, following an easy 70-28 thrashing of Harrison County. The 32 coaches who comprise the Board gave the Bulldogs 13 first-place votes and 272 points this week.

Manual, which gained a fat 50 points over last week, got 11 first-place votes and 267 points, cut into the Bulldogs' lead. The Crimson impressed many followers with two week-end wins, one an 84-52 victory over Newport Public.

Ten points are awarded for each first-place vote of the coaches, who represent all 16 state regions; nine for second place and so on through one for a 10th place mention.

The Top Ten remained virtually intact but there was considerable shifting in the lower ranks and Old Springs dropped out of the higher echelon.
 Bowling Green High Street clung to the number 8 spot but lost 19 points and two first-place votes. The unbeaten Mustangs, who face a major test in a game with Bowling Green High Saturday night, received two first-place votes and 187 points.

Back in the No. 4 spot was Olive Hill, winner over Inez, 75-59, in its last time out, with 164 points and one first-place vote.

Lexington Dunbar stuck to No. 9 the handy 59-24 opening game win over Covington Catholics. The tall Bearcats gained 35 points from last week, receiving 149 and a first-place mention.

It was the second five that the pulling and pushing for positions was apparent.

Louisville Male moved from seventh to sixth, showing Pikeville to 10th, North Marshall climbed to seventh from ninth last week and Clark County leaped from 13th to eighth, displacing Covington Grant, which had to settle for ninth billing.

Broadway

UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK — (UPI) — It must be recorded as a tragedy of the theater season that Gian-Carlo Menotti's latest musical drama, "Maria Golovin," was on display for only five performances.

It was the case with the composer's "The Medium," "The Consul" and "The Saint of Bleeker Street," this work was exposed first in the commercial mart of Broadway rather than as part of an opera company's repertoire. Apparently the producer, David Merrick, was disappointed in the reviews, although the majority of the notices were good. But the production, which came about on a spur-of-the-moment decision, had had no chance to build up an advance sale, and without an all-out press, it was deemed too much of a risk to try to hang on.

It was a piece that many serious theater-goers would have enjoyed, and it seems a shame that they will not now get the chance. Oh, it will turn up on opera stages now and then, and the National Broadcasting Company's opera company will give it a TV performance during the winter, but the production at the Martin Beck Theater was something of a gem that will not be duplicated.

It was a theater piece pure and simple. The stress was not on the music, as in the case of "The Saint of Bleeker Street" and, to a somewhat lesser degree, "The Consul." But Menotti the composer served Menotti the librettist handsomely enough and with fine dramatic skill.

"Maria Golovin" is a simple, straight-line love tragedy involving a blind war veteran and the wife of a prisoner of war. The return of the husband destroys the idyll.

The work was given a magnificent performance under Menotti's direction by Franca Duval, Richard Cross, Patricia Neway, William Chapman, Ruth Kobart, Norman Kelley and Lorenzo Muti.

A rip-roaring performance that will lift your scalp is turned in by a Broadway newcomer, George C. Scott, in Speed Lamkin's "Comes a Day," in which Judith Anderson and Arthur O'Connell are starred.

Scott, much honored for work in off-Broadway productions the past two seasons, has been given a fantastically conceived character to work with, and he plays it with devastating effect. You will never forget the performance.

The play is not too distinguished otherwise, but Lamkin, whose first production this is, gives signs of promise. Obviously, he has a strong theatrical sense and a knack for effective laconic dialogue.

The play at the Ambassador Theater deals with the efforts of a thwarted mother to have her daughter make a brilliant and very wealthy marriage to compensate for her own disappointment. The weak, wealthy man she married lost everything in a few years, and she's never forgiven him. Miss Anderson and O'Connell do excellently as wife and husband.

Scott plays the self-made-man fiancé of the daughter. Trouble is that he's a psychopath. The girl is saved just in time.

Diana van der Vlis as the daughter and Brandon de Wilde as her brother do well, and Robert Mulligan's direction is able.

The group includes musicians, teachers, business executives and artists. They represent many nationalities and many religious denominations.

They fight fires, do flood control relief work, assist victims of plane crashes in the mountains and often have helped search through their narrow winding canyon for lost juveniles.

Only about eight per cent of the nation's estimated 350,000 blind persons are presently employed, according to the American Foundation for the Blind.

I Like Home Says Lion

bol," a lion at the Cairo Zoological Gardens, is a stubborn lion. Stubborn like a mule.

And that's why "Bolbol"—(his name means nightingale) — is still at the Cairo Zoological Gardens.

Charles Caruso and baby boy Rt. 7, Benton; Coy Lee Kuykendall, Rt. 1, Puryear, Tenn.; Mrs. Ruby Farmer, 600 Poplar; Robert McKinney, Rt. 1, Dexter; James Latimer, Puryear, Tenn.; Kathy Ford, 425 W. 8th; Benton.

PAGE THREE

When zoo officials decided to move him to the Alexandria Zoo they didn't reckon with "Bolbol's" strong attachment to his Cairo home. The lion plainly refused to leave his cage.

They tried persuasion but failed miserably. They tried to prick him out of the cage with iron spears. The guards waved revolvers menacingly. They opened up on him with water hoses. They starved him and tried to lure him into a waiting truck by placing meat outside the cage.

After six hours of resistance, "Bolbol" was triumphant. Wet, hungry and annoyed, but triumphant, the zookeeper decided to send another lion to Alexandria. The second choice went along without complaint.

FRATERNAL ORDER: LEAVE!

ITHACA, N. Y. — (UPI) — A three-legged husky owned by a Cornell fraternity has been banished from the campus for snapping at students.

The dog, named Tripod, was expelled despite a plea by the student newspaper, the Cornell Daily Sun, that he be kept.

Members of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity, where Tripod lived, feted the dog at a banquet before turning him over to his original owner, Roger Burgraff, a former student, who plans to bring Tripod back to his birthplace in Alaska.
